

Prof. Claude PICHARD, MD, PhD, 1955.

Prof. Pichard was a Professor of nutrition at the Geneva University Hospital, Switzerland. He was involved in patients care, basic and clinical research (>380 references in Pubmed), and teaching (> 570 international lectures).

He was the President, then the Chairman of the European Society of Clinical Nutrition & Metabolism (ESPEN) until 2006, the Director of the ESPEN Life-Long Learning (LLL) educational programme until 2012. He is currently active in 11 academic societies in- and outside Europe, is the Founder (2005) and past Chairman of the European Nutrition for Health Alliance.

Since October 2020, he became Honorary consultant in the Department of Endocrinology, Diabetology and Nutrition at the Geneva University Hospital, and is running a private medical practice.

He recently developed a revolutionary new indirect calorimeter for energy expenditure measurement (Q-NRG).

WEB for SCIENCE INFORMATIONS

- Sum of publications: 3405
- Sum of the Times Cited : 12'961
- h-index : 58